

NexGen Agency's VIP multichannel solution is perfect for startups

NexGen Agency is ready and equip to handle your customer interactions so you can focus on your products. We have direct experience and LOVE working with companies in the beginning stages of their journey.

While most entrepreneurs aim to make theirs a successful startup story, their lack of a third party to help them scale can make the task quite challenging. Indeed, it can take years for a new business to develop its customer base and attain success. This is where NexGen Agency can help and acquire new customers for you FAST!

NexGen Agency will also offer you complimentary –

- Industry specific contact lists (phone, email, social) for new customer acquisition.
- Marketing and Graphic Design.
- Social Media Strategies leveraging our amazing technology.
- Access to our low cost offshore R&D teams.
- Complete intelligence analytics on your projects.
- And More...

Our ultramodern program development and incubation center is the ONLY source that provides companies and startups the flexibility to test out new products and services without the constraint of long-term commitments or contact center agent minimums.

Client Testimonial

'When I was first looking for a partner for customer support for my product, I didn't know what I needed or the scale. But NexGen was able to talk to me, understand my product, and provide their recommendations. Since working with them, my company has been in non-stop growth mode and I can focus on what I know best and leave the rest to them!' -Executive at a Technology Startup Company

Our Experience

NexGen Agency has helped many startup companies from the very beginning of their operations. From building technology and teams to how to handle the first interaction with customers, we have experience with it all. We have dedicated startup specialists that will design and innovate with you to ensure top operating efficiencies, ensure economical costs, and be there as your true partner to scale up as your company continues to grow.